ONCE upon a time...

A territory occupied since the prehistoric times

Between the 3rd century BC and the 1st century A.D: Ligurians lived in the hills of the Baou Redon. Carsicis Portus was a harbour that lived mainly off fishing and trade with the Mediterranean.

From the 5th to the 10th centuries, its inhabitants took refuge on the hilltops (castrum) to escape the Barbarian invasions.

In the 15th century: Cassis became part of the lands belonging to the Count of Provence. It became French in 1486.
The town was governed by bishops until 1789.

In the 18th century, the town expanded around the harbour.

At the beginning of the 20th century, Cassis became a resort for rich residents of Marseille.

THE CALANQUES NATIONAL PARK

Calanques' culture

The Calanques,
were formed
120 million years ago

The Massif des Calanques, to the west of Cassis, is made up of a 400-metre-thick layer of white limestone. Marine valleys have been carved out of it, creating veritable miniature fjords, often with their own magnificent natural coves.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Calanques have provided an abundant source of the magnificent 'Cassis stone' for which this tiny fishing harbour is known throughout the world, as it has been used to build Mediterranean ports (Alexandria, Algiers, Piraeus, Marseille...).

› Today it is used to make decorative objects and souvenirs

Underwater springs: the mysterious rivers... Fresh water collects in the Massif des Calanques. It is home to an important underwater ecosystem in the sea.

HIGHLIGHT... COSQUER CAVE (Grotte Cosquer)

Cosquer Cave was discovered in 1991 by Henri Cosquer, a former professional diver from Cassis. It is an underground wonderland with prehistoric paintings dating to between 27 000 and 19 000 BC and boasts carvings and paintings of hands, horses...

› For safety reasons, the cave is closed to the public.

CALANQUES FLORA AND FAUNA

An extraordinary treasure

At every bend in the pathway,
you will see typical cliff
and garrigue plant:

sea lavender (limonium), myrtle,
wild asparagus, broom, lavatera...
and Mediterranean aromatic plants.

Sabline de Provence

Rare protected species.

› Unique to the Calanques.

There is also a profusion of wild-life.
If you're lucky, you might see warblers,
peregrine falcons, gannets, gulls
or a pair of Bonelli's eagles
(only 32 in France).

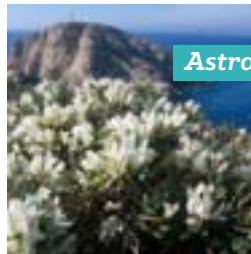

Cicada

It spends four years underground before spending
the whole summer singing!
The cicada lives for approximately 50 days.

› Male cicadas sing
to attract females.

Aleppo Pines

They have grown in the Calanques
for the last 150 years.

Astragalus Massiliensis

Also known as
'mother-in-law's cushion'.

Posidonia

Flowering marine plant.
They are known as the
'lungs' of the sea..
› Protected species.

Seagull

Known as 'gabian'
in Provence.

CAP CANAILLE

A must see

The scenic
Route des Crêtes

Road and pathways converge on La Ciotat offering spectacular views over the Gulf of Cassis, the Calanques, the islands off the coast of Marseille... Along the road, several viewpoints will invite you to admire the magnificent landscape..

› May be closed due to high winds.

Activities

PASSION gourmet

The vineyards	24
The gourmets meetings	26
The restaurants	28

A hand is shown pouring white wine from a bottle into a glass. The scene is set outdoors at sunset, with a blurred background of a cityscape and a white tablecloth. The wine is a pale yellow color. The bottle has a black cap and a white label. The glass is a white wine glass, partially filled with the same pale yellow wine. The background shows a cityscape with buildings and a bright sunset sky. The overall mood is relaxed and elegant.

The vineyards

Facts and figures

- In the beginning, 2 600 years ago, the Greeks planted the first grape-vine...
- In 1936: the vineyards of Cassis were awarded the Appellation d'Origine Contrôlée (Appellation of Origin).
- 215 hectares, planted on narrow terraces known as 'restanques' exclusively in the commune of Cassis
- 1 million bottles per year

The only vineyard in France that is totally contained within a national Park, it produces:

- 71 % white wines
- 26 % rosés
- 3 % reds
